To whom it may concern:

In the two years I have known Louis Casillas I have been impressed with his dedication to any endeavor he has been involved with. He has worked closely with me here at Humana as a consulting partner and project manager. Louis is a consummate professional.

He was instrumental to the success in delivering new Health and Fitness Products for Humana. His pragmatic approach to leading projects and managing diverse teams makes him a welcome addition to any initiative. Louis is a superior mentor to his teams with proven results via successful implementations of many products. Louis produces success through effective utilization of resources, tactful negotiation, hands-on technical knowledge and personal tenacity. I would welcome any opportunity to work with Louis again at any time.

I highly recommend him as a necessary component to any successful team.

Sincerely,
Pat Talley
